

Free Class

Florida-Friendly Gardening and Native Plant Sale

for nature and people

Saturday, April 26, 2008

8:30 A.M. to noon

South Florida Community College
2251 NE Turner Ave in Arcadia

Learn how to transform your property into a beautiful oasis for people and wildlife that will not only conserve precious water resources and reduce pollution but may also save you time and money.

Learn about organic gardening and get your questions answered during an Ask-the-Expert session.

www.CHNEP.org • Toll-free 866/835-5785 x 240

Since 2005, the CHNEP has organized Florida-friendly workshops for residents of Hardee and DeSoto counties. Find out more about similar programs that serve other counties by visiting the website at www.CHNEP.org.

Free Florida-Friendly Gardening for nature and people and Native Plant Sale

Saturday, April 26, 2008

SFCC, 2251 NE Turner Ave, Arcadia

- 8:00 Registration begins
- 8:30 Program starts, Welcome
- 8:45 Drought in southwest Florida
- 9:15 Organic gardening
- 10:15 Break with short demonstrations
- 10:30 Panel of plant experts will answer your questions
- Noon As a gift for attending, each person may take one of the select plants.

Native plants will be available for purchase throughout the morning.

Additional details are posted on the website at www.CHNEP.org.

This class is offered free because of the cooperation and generosity of many groups, including Charlotte Harbor National Estuary Program, South Florida Community College, Pine Lily Nursery, Deluxe Trees and Shrubs, All Native Garden Center, the guest speakers, and many others.

Please encourage your friends and neighbors to attend.

Presentations made during earlier workshops are available on the website at www.CHNEP.org as are entries from the Florida Native Plant Writing Contest held in 2007 by the DeSoto County Library and Association.

Charlotte Harbor
National Estuary Program
1926 Victoria Ave
Fort Myers FL 33901-3414

PRSRST STD
U.S. Postage
PAID
Mail-It