

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The Charlotte Harbor National Estuary Program is a partnership working to protect the natural environment in Florida from Venice to Bonita Springs to Winter Haven. The partnership is supported financially by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Southwest Florida Water Management District, South Florida Water Management District, Florida Department of Environmental Protection, Florida Coastal Zone Management Program, Peace River Manasota Regional Water Supply Authority, the counties of Charlotte, DeSoto, Hardee, Lee, Polk, Manatee, and Sarasota, and the cities and towns of Bonita Springs, Cape Coral, Fort Myers, Fort Myers Beach, North Port, Punta Gorda, Sanibel, Venice and Winter Haven, and the Southwest Florida Regional Planning Council. The CHNEP thanks these entities for their financial support in the Program's research, restoration, legislative and education efforts, including this children's book.

Special thanks to the author, illustrator and designer who generously provided their talents to this book, to the CHNEP Citizens Advisory Committee (CAC) for their support, and to Janice Sylvain, Rachelle Selser, Stacia Hetrick, Lisa Beever, Rae Ann Wessel, Greg Blanchard and Theresa Schober for their careful reviews of the book.

The CHNEP is able to distribute the book free to students throughout the seven counties that participate in the Program because of the generosity of its financial partners and cooperation of the school districts. The second edition (2009) of the book was also generously supported by the Jelks Family Foundation. — Maran Brainard Hilgendorf, Editor

The author thanks Maran Brainard Hilgendorf and the Charlotte Harbor National Estuary Program for their patience, encouragement and support of this project; the environmental educators and scientists who shared their time, expertise and words: Desiree A. Companion, Barbara Davis, Lisa Figueroa, Anita Forester, Bill Hammond, Diane Herron, Kayton Nedza, Melissa Cain Nell, Dr. Charles O'Connor, Curtis Porterfield, Tina Powell, and Rachel Rebekah Renne for these beautiful drawings. She also thanks her daughter, Jahna Peace Leonard, for her company as they explored the estuary in the car and on foot; her husband for piloting her through the estuary by truck, boat and airplane; and Stanley Forester, Luke Wilson and Elise Zarli for their critique.

The author acknowledges a debt of inspiration to Holling Clancy Holling for his books Minn of the Mississippi, Pagoo, Paddle-to-the-Sea and Seabird. — Carol Mahler, Author

The artist thanks the sun, clouds, trees, water, soil, birds, mammals, reptiles, fish, amphibians and invertebrates, especially the insects, for their naturally artful existence, and she thanks the children for whom this book is drawn. — Rachel Rebekah Renne, Illustrator
